

Planet Pals steal the show

The Planet Pal program participants received thanks and recognition for their environmentally friendly work by council members Feb. 3. Planet Pals also received a $500 check from Waste Management along with a 2008 Outstanding Award from the United States Conference of Mayors for the program's partnership with a business and the city. In 2008, Waste Management gave $5,000 to the program for each school site in Manhattan Beach to further expand recycling, conservation and other environmentally friendly practices.

(photo by Julie Sharp)