

How to Find an Eco-Conscious Job

There are countless eco-conscious jobs out there, and the industry is only continuing to grow. However, it can be overwhelming trying to navigate the industry if you don't know where to start. Here are some tips!

1. Set yourself up for a green job through your major.
  - a. Refer to our "Sustainable Majors in College" document.
2. Get involved with green organizations in high school and college.
  - a. Ask questions from higher-ups, including teachers and club leaders, about how they got into the green field, and what they would suggest for you.
3. Get inspired! Explore options for green jobs online and look at different careers that interest you.
  - a. Here are some sites to get you started:
    - i. How to Find Green Jobs
    - ii. How to Get a Green Job
    - iii. BrownGirlGreen Job Board
4. Once you have found a green career (or multiple) that interests you, take the next steps to set up for this job.

This could mean choosing a specific major in college, applying for internships in the field, and seeking advice from those already in the field about how they got there.
